SCHIZOPHONIC SOUND ANNOUNCES NEW ALBUM CITY LIGHTS FROM THE STARLIGHT PINES

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

VANCOUVER, BC – Schizophonic Sound is thrilled to announce the release of the latest album from The Starlight Pines, City Lights, available everywhere on October 27, 2018.

City Lights is a moody and driving album that is a reflection of that liminal space that exists between the teenage and young adult years—that space of feelings that is evoked by leaving a small town and moving to the big city. This album is the documentation of a two year journey of writing from frontman, Jordan Mitchell. The first single of the album is ‘Afraid’, followed by a video release for the third track, ‘Face It’.

The Starlight Pines is a dark folk rock band from Vancouver, BC. The band is comprised of songwriter Jordan Mitchell (vocals, guitar), Gerilee McBride (drums), Gavin Smith (bass), and Jenna Dunsby (keyboardist). Jesse Gander (engineer on the album) also plays synthesizer and keys on several tracks of their 2018 release, City Lights.

Listeners will get their first chance to hear the new album live at the official album release party, Saturday, Nov. 17th at 9pm at the Toast Collective (648 Kingsway), Vancouver, BC.

‘Afraid’ is an advance listen to the Starlight Pines’ new album coming in October. It gives us lots to look forward to as the track deftly balances americana and moody indie. The psychedelic touch is icing on the cake.” —Mark Anthony Brennan, Ride the Tempo
